Officials Assume Funston May Begin Shipment of Supplies Today

WASHINGTON, Mar. 29.—One of the army's most serious problems in hunting Villa was solved today when General Carranza promptly granted the renewed request of the state department for permission to use the Mexican Northwestern railroad in carrying out the pursuit.

General Carranza received the new request this morning, his answer was in Washington before dark. It was contained in a brief message from James L. Rodgers, special agent of the United States at Queretaro, saying the head of the de facto government agreed to the commercial use of the line. Officials here assumed he would be equally prompt in notifying his officers on the border and that General Funston might begin shipment tomorrow.

Will Negotiate Further.

Altho the army will proceed to use the railroad on a commercial basis which is construed here as meaning that all service shall be paid for at regular rates, the state department will negotiate further with Carranza to bring about a more complete understanding as to just what he has agreed to. Today's response is regarded as being satisfactory in a measure but it is not sufficiently definite. It may be, too, that in order to assure the arrival and delivery of supplies shipped to points along the line, General Funston will desire to place guards on the trains.

War department officials were greatly relieved by the removal of the necessity for maintaining a motor truck supply line over desert roads for a distance of more than 200 miles. A cloudburst or great storm might render the roads impassable for a considerable space of time, cutting off the troops from their source of supply at the border.

While the physical condition of the Mexican Northwestern is not good many bridges having been destroyed during the years of revolution in Mexico, army engineers should have little difficulty in keeping it open.

To Work Out Details.

Aside from the railroad problem, details of the protocol suggested by General Carranza remain to be worked out thru diplomatic channels.

State department officials indicate however, that there is no reason for haste in this connection.

As was the case when American troops crossed into Mexico in pursuit of Geronimo the Apache outlaws years ago, the formal agreement may not be completed until the expedition has accomplished its purpose and returned.

It will serve, however, as the legal basis for the adjustment of all claims arising out of the use of American troops to pursue Villa.

There was no military news to day from the border or expeditionary columns. General Pershing's reports to Gen. Funston have been very brief and it has only been the important dispatches from the front that have been forwarded to the war department. Officials viewed with satisfaction however, press reports saying that American troops were pressing close to the bandits here.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 30.—Robbers boarded a Texas & Pacific mail train No. 23, at the depot here early this morning as the train was pulling out. They entered the mail car, bound and gagged two mail clerks and took from the car two pouches of registered mail. They left the train at Shreveport Junction about two miles from the depot.

The police immediately dispatched a squad of officers in high powered automobiles after the robbers, said to be two in number.

After the bandits left the train, the mail clerks worked free from their bonds and gave the alarm.

The mail clerks were unable to say whether the robbers were white men or negroes or if they were armed.

Police officials here think the men may have escaped on a northbound train leaving here shortly after mid-night.

Another Segregation Plan.
Oklahoma City has followed the example of St. Louis and has passed a segregation ordinance which prohibits colored people from making purchases of property in blocks where the majority of residents are white and prohibits white people from purchasing property where the majority are colored residents. It is thus apparent that it doesn't take long for such a measure as that adopted in St. Louis to open the way for similar legislation. The St. Louis action created country wide attention and in a great many quarters it is believed that the action was contrary to the constitution and that it will so be declared when the highest courts are reached.

Double Organization.
In Champaign physicians have organized a public health, hygiene and sanitation bureau as part of the Chamber of Commerce. The city has a board of health and the plan is for the board and the Chamber of Commerce department to work together in looking after health conditions in Champaign. Certainly there will be no lack of organization there, but the thing most needed will be the public sentiment to back up the work of the physicians and the health board. Then there will be the danger, too, of authority clashes and jealousy. The experience of most cities is that better results are secured if health and sanitation work is entrusted to one official or a board.

Good Roads Enthusiasm.
In Woodford county authorities have become so enthusiastic over oiled roads that they have purchased an oiler which they will lend to the different townships that apply. The oiler is of the most approved type and it is the expectation that it will be almost constantly in use for several months. The Burlington Hawkeye comments upon the fact that two years ago several miles of hard roads were put down in Woodford county and that since that time the interest of the people there in hard roads seems to have been at low ebb. The paper ventures the prediction that the hard road will yet come into its own when the people later on find that oiled highways are not going to measure up to present day expectations.

Farmers Seek Organization.
In North Dakota they have a new party called the Non-Partisan league. All the members are farmers and they are pledged to look after political and legislative matters with the interests of farmers primarily in

Rippling Rhymes By WALT MASON

RED PAINT

Red paint is pretty as pickled beets; of rich red paint let the poets sing! Red paint is good for the rustic seats, and excellent for the garden swing. We put red paint on the barn and fence and know full well it will hold them down; red paint is good—but there is no sense in using it on the sleeping town. Red paint is wholesome and safe and sane, I sing its worth on the stage and stump; it's a splendid thing for the weathervane, and fine as silk for the eastern pump. It can be used when you'd decorate the stable roof or the kitchen floor; oh, put three coats on the wicket gate, and spread it thick on the henhouse door. It's earned the praises of tongue and pen, it is far better than green or brown; it is a boon to the sons of men—but it's no good for the sleeping town.

DATES IN ILLINOIS HISTORY.

March 30, 1675—Entebbed by sickness and exposure endured during a winter spent near the Chicago river. Father Marquette, the Jesuit missionary, set forth for the village of the Kaskaskias.

view. A state ticket is to be placed in the field and the league expects to at least hold the balance of power in the next legislature.

Various efforts have been made to unite farmers into cohesive and lasting organizations, but efforts have never succeeded in a permanent way. But in this day of organized effort farmers are very likely to eventually find a way whereby matters of interest to them can be given special consideration. Capital is organized, labor is organized, and so it seems that the farmers, on whom both capital and labor are largely dependent, should eventually perfect an organization for their protection and advancement.

Close Contest for Committeeman.

Mayor Thompson must be credited with a large amount of energy and enthusiasm in prosecuting his campaign for membership in the national Republican committee. The Chicago mayor is using papers throughout the state to let the voters know that his proposition to Roy O. West to put the matter of national committee membership up to the voters at the primary election April 1 has been ignored by Mr. West. The law does not provide for the selection of national committeemen in this way, but Mayor Thompson suggested that if Mr. West would consent, that he would willingly go on the ballot and consider the result as advisory to the national convention. Mr. West's unwillingness to consent to the plan is forming the basis for Mayor Thompson's political advertising. Those in a position to know have the feeling that it will be a very close contest between Mayor Thompson and Mr. West, and that at the present time it is anybody's fight, and that the changing of one or two votes may affect the final result.

Optimism Is Contagious.

Optimism, boasting or whatever you choose to term it, is contagious, and it is the easiest thing in the world to prove it. If you start from your home down town some morning and observe to every man you meet that "It's a pleasant day," the response will almost certainly come, "It surely is." The reply is instinctive. No man feels like engaging in argument with you even if your statement that the day is pleasant doesn't exactly fit in with conditions and surroundings. Many a day which was very gloomy from a weather standpoint has been made endurable and really pleasant just because people have not only refrained from declaring the weather uncomfortable and miserable, but have gone farther and forgetting the real conditions, have declared the weather fine. It is a simple homely illustration, but points to the truth that the real way to boost is to forget about any little drawbacks there may be and to talk about the good conditions which normally prevail, and the great possibilities which predominate.

The Troubles of the Rich.

That there are difficulties beset the wealthy even in their efforts to dispose of their property is indicated in the case which is now being considered in New York. The transfer tax appraiser exempted from taxation the residuary bequest of $437,000 made by the late Mrs. John D. Rockefeller to the Rockefeller foundation. The state comptroller appealed from this decision, maintaining that the foundation is not a charitable corporation and is therefore not exempt from the transfer tax. The decision in the case must clear up the very interesting point as to the difference between charity work and that which is done simply for the general betterment of the race.

Money from the Rockefeller foundation is devoted to a variety of purposes. Funds have been used to alleviate suffering in special instances, both at home and abroad, and contributions have been made to educational institutions. The wealthy no doubt have a great deal of satisfaction from their money, but are beset with complex problems while living and know that even after they are gone that argument, discussion and probably litigation will occur in the distribution of their holdings.

Public Sale Prices.

A public sale these days where there is a large attendance and good articles and stock are offered, indicates not only that times are prosperous, but also that men in friendly rivalry will often pay more for an article they are purchasing than the original cost. This has frequently happened the present season in Morgan county and the same principle has been applied to the purchase of livestock. While prices are said to be the result of supply and demand, the rule does not hold at public sales. Prices there are determined by the attendance, the work of the auctioneer and the general spirit which prevails. A sale where the implements offered are in good condition and the livestock well bred is almost certain to result in high prices.

It frequently happens, too, that when the weather is cold and disagreeable or the roads are bad, that the prices are even better than would have been true under conditions which would be usually accounted as favorable. Farmers like to buy at these sales and frequently pay more than the purchases are actually worth. They seldom bid blindly, but are simply willing to "pay the price," because they judge the condition of the implements from the general appearance and because they are able to learn the history of the stock that they are buying.

Will Honor Great Methodist.

It will be just one hundred years ago tomorrow that Francis Asbury, an English Methodist preacher, now frequently termed, "The Wesley of America," died at his home in Virginia. The minister had spent fifty years of his life in religious service and it was recorded that he had traveled more than 300,000 miles on horse back preaching and organiza-

izing the church. When he came to America in 1771 the Methodist church did not have a total membership of more than 600 in all the country and the total number of preachers was seven. When he died the membership had passed the mark of 218,000 and there were more than 700 Methodist ministers in the United States. The central figure in this remarkable advancement was Francis Asbury.

The anniversary tomorrow is therefore one of importance to the Methodist denomination and will be fittingly observed at Washington by the Baltimore annual conference. At the special Asbury service tomorrow evening Bishop Earl Cranston, so well known in Jacksonville will preside and will have the honor of presenting president Wilson for a brief address.

The work of the Methodist church is too well known to need commendation here, but certainly the man who was most active in establishing and strengthening the church in the earlier days of the country built even better than he knew and is entitled to all honor and praise.

A Study of Justice.

The Illinois pardon board must soon settle one of the most unusual cases that has ever been recorded in the state. The confession of a man arrested for robbery indicates that John Platt, who was convicted in Chicago in 1913 for robbing a restaurant and has since been serving time in Joliet, was not guilty of the crime. The robber who has confessed declares that one of his own accomplices very greatly resembles Platt and was the man who should have been charged with the restaurant crime. Now the board has the task of definitely determining whether Platt was wrongfully arrested and imprisoned and if convicted of error will free the man.

Further than that the board has no authority and altho there may be the earnest desire to make some reparation, the board will be without legal right so to do, but may refer the case to the legislature for consideration. Certain it is that it would be far better for a number of guilty men to escape than for one man accused of crime to be unjustly punished. The mere payment of money cannot make reparation for the injury done to the man's life and reputation by unjust imprisonment. If the facts are as now indicated, it is simply a case where the pardon board and the friends of the injured man must seek to equalize the injury done him just as far as possible, ever with the knowledge that the debt cannot be fully paid.

MORTUARY

Smith.

The Hamilton County Register, published at Aurora, Neb., contained the following notice of the death of Mrs. Mary Smith, at one time a resident of this city. The deceased was a sister of Mrs. Emily Faul and an aunt of Mrs. Ralph Barcroft of this city:

Mary Elizabeth Smith was born at Scarborough, England, May 11, 1851, and died at her home, one mile east of Aurora, at 6 a. m., February 15, 1916, aged 64 years, 9 months and 4 days.

She came with her parents to America at the age of 15 years. In early life she became a Christian and a member of the M. E. church, and was always willing to lend a helping hand or do a kindly deed. She has fought a good fight and kept the faith.

On March 2, 1889, she was united in marriage to Thomas Smith at Jacksonville, Ill. From this union were born twelve children, five living to maturity, the others dying in infancy. Nellie, wife of Norman Toland, died seven years ago this spring.

The remaining children are Charles E., who lives near the home; Agnes Conrad of Hastings, Neb.; Emily F. French of York, Neb.; Willis, the youngest, at home, now 19 years of age, and ten grandchildren, of whom she was very proud.

On March 2, 1884, the deceased, her husband and three small children came to Hamilton county, Nebraska. Her brother, Stephen Rawlings, and daughter Jessie accompanied them. She and her husband settled on the farm, one mile east of Aurora. Emily and Willis were born on the home place in Nebraska.

Besides her family, she leaves to mourn her loss two sisters and two brothers: Mrs. George Richardson and Mrs. Emily Faul of Jacksonville, Ill.; William E. Rawlings of Franklin, Ill., and Stephen Rawlings of Giltner, Neb., and a host of other relatives and friends.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist church at 2:30 on Thursday, it being that day one year ago that her husband departed to the great beyond. The same songs were sung: "Rock of Ages," "Going Down the Valley One by One" and "Lead, Kindly Light." Many beautiful floral offerings were sent by relatives and kind friends and Rev. J. D. M. Buckner was the officiating minister. Interment was made in Aurora cemetery.

Vanstone.

Mrs. Isabel Rawlings Vanstone died at her home, eight miles southwest of Jacksonville, Wednesday evening at 6 o'clock, aged 53 years, 11 months and 29 days. Death came as the result of a stroke of paralysis which occurred about a week ago.

Deceased was the daughter of Henry and Catherine Rawlings and was born near Durbin March 31, 1857. She was converted when young and was for many years a faithful member of Durbin church, retaining her membership there until she removed to Lynnville. She was a woman of bright disposition and made many friends which she kept throughout life. She was united in marriage to Thomas Vanstone Feb. 12, 1890. To this union three children were born. The husband and an infant daughter preceded her in death. Those surviving are: Mrs. Agnes Mutch and Earl Vanstone at home. Two sisters, Mrs. Mary Jones and Mrs. Sarah Oxley, and two brothers, David and James E. Rawlings, survive.

The funeral will be held from Ashbury church Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Huddleston.

Kenneth Eugene Huddleston, son of Albert W. and Laura Anthony Huddleston, died at Our Savior's hospital at 10 o'clock Wednesday morning after an illness of three weeks. Deceased was born in Kirksville, Mo., March 3, 1910. There survive besides the parents the following brothers and sisters: Anna, Helen and Richard Huddleston, all of this city. Funeral services will be held from the residence, 630 Henry street, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, with burial in Jacksonville cemetery.

Liter.

W. B. Liter passed away Wednesday morning at 2:15 o'clock at the home of his brother, G. T. Liter, of Literberry. He had been in failing health for several months. A turn for the worse came a week ago and he was taken from his residence northeast of Literberry to his brother's home.

Mr. Liter was born Oct. 25, 1851. A second brother, Abe Liter, resides in Virginia and a sister, Mrs. Frances Person, lives in Springfield. Funeral services will be held Friday forenoon at 9 o'clock at Literberry Christian church. The Rev. C. G. Cantrell will be in charge and burial will be made in Liter cemetery.

Huddleston.

Eugene Huddleston died at Our Savior's hospital of spinal meningitis Wednesday evening. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Huddleston residing at 630 Henry street. Deceased was six years old and besides his parents is survived by one brother and two sisters. The funeral will be conducted at the family residence at 3 p. m. Friday.

WRECK TAKES TOLL OF THIRTY LIVES

Twenty-fifth Century Limited, July 21, 1904, at Mentor, Ohio, about twenty miles east of Cleveland. In that disaster nineteen persons lost their lives. A maniac, it was asserted by railroad officials turned a switch that caused that wreck.

Hospitals Are Filled.

The Amhurst wreck today took a far greater toll in both life and limb than the Mentor wreck. Hospitals in Lorain and Elyria tonight were filled with injured from the wreck and it generally was believed the death list would be increased above thirty.

Hospital trains were run from Cleveland, Elyria and Lorain to the scene of the wreck and physicians and ambulances were rushed from all these points. Hundreds of villagers and farmers from Amhurst and vicinity did heroic work in caring for the dead, dying and injured. The little morgue at Amhurst was quickly filled but other buildings were made available to the dead, most of them mangled beyond recognition.

Private homes were also thrown open and many were made use of pending removal of the injured to Elyria and Lorain hospitals.

List of Dead.

The following list of dead was given out by the railroad officials: Arpad Heital, theatrical manager, New York.

Raisin Oban, Indianapolis, Ind. Malcinca Binnoe, Indiana Harbor, Ind.

Rev. Gustaf Walyl, pastor First Evangelical Church, Detroit. Fred Weazer, Detroit, Mich.

J. Rusey, _____

D. Fruhman, Toronto.

B. E. Aish, Transfer mail man, N. Y. C., Olmstead Falls, Ohio.

R. Thomas, Philadelphia, Pa.

Georgi Ojinci, Indianapolis, Ind.

Edward LeRoy, St. Louis, Mo.

Jennie Dreymer, Cleveland, O.

Charles Nelson, Chicago, Ill.

Bruce Bromley, Hillsville, Pa.

Eight other unidentified men and three unidentified women.

Passengers Tell of Wreck

Chicago, March 29.—Passengers on the Twentieth Century Limited who escaped injury despite the fact that their train plowed thru the wreckage of the two sections of the eastbound train at high speed, told of the catastrophe on arriving in Chicago today. There was no panic on the limited passengers said. The electric lights continued to glow and the occupants of the sleeping cars were enabled, after they were jolted awake in their berths to arrange temporary relief for the persons injured in the collision.

Mrs. Robert S. Hotse, wife of a wealthy Chicagoan, who had recently taken a course in war nursing at a hospital, directed the first aid work with a coolness that won the admiration of the other passengers. She sent for anesthetics, ordered the tearing up of sheets for bandages and even ripped up her own underskirts for the purpose of stanching the blood flowing from the wounds.

MORE OPTIMISTIC FEELING IS APPARENT ON BOTH SIDES OF BORDER

DOUGLAS, Ariz., March 29.—A more optimistic feeling than has been exhibited since the American punitive expedition crossed the Chinahua border with orders to kill or capture Villa, was apparent on both sides of the border today, following receipt of the news that General Carranza had given permission for the passage of food supplies for the United States punitive expedition.

Mexican Consul Lelevier announced today that the column of 1,400 cavalry under General Armando Gomez, which arrived from Hermosillo this week, is being distributed between Colonia Morelos, Nacoza, Cumpas and Moctezuma. General P. Elias Calles, military governor of Sonora, has caused the dismantling of the wireless plants in Nacoza and Cananea, owned by and used for the benefit of the Moctezuma Copper company and the Cananea Consolidated Copper company.

Consul Lelevier said this was done by the military as a precautionary move to insure the enforcement of the strict censorship established by Calles two weeks ago.

PRONOUNCEMENT ON ENLISTMENT OF MARRIED MEN IS POSTPONED

LONDON, March 29.—An important pronouncement from the government on the vexed question of the enlistment of married men was expected in the house of commons today. The cabinet met in council before the house assembled to discuss the matter and in some quarters it was expected that radical decisions would be made. However, as Premier Asquith, Foreign Secretary Grey, War Secretary Kitchener and Minister of Munitions David Lloyd-George have not yet returned from Paris, where they took part in the conference of the allies, this was not possible and the question as to whether it will be possible to avoid resort to obligatory service for married, as well as single men was necessarily postponed.

ROOSEVELT WOULD BUILD EIGHTNEW CAPITAL SHIPS THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, March 29.—Appropriation by congress for eight new capital ships this year—double the number proposed in the administration's five year navy program—was recommended by Assistant Secretary Roosevelt today in concluding his testimony before the house naval committee. Secretary Daniels will appear tomorrow as the last witness to be heard before the committee begins drafting his bills. Examination is expected to require several days.

Mr. Roosevelt explained that the recommendation for eight ships immediately represented his personal views and not those of the department.

Philadelphia, March 29.—The Pennsylvania supreme court will soon take up the appeal of Dr. George Chalmers Richmond, the "fighting pastor" of Philadelphia, from the decree of the common pleas court which ousted him from the church property of St. John's Episcopal church in this city. Dr. Richmond has been thru a long contest in the ecclesiastical courts as well as the state courts, and, altho defeated thus far in his efforts to retain his pastorate, is hopeful of victory. His present difficulties arose thru differences with Bishop Rhinelander, during which the rector severely criticised his superior in letters and in public. He was ordered deposed and a successor was sent to preach in his pulpit, but Dr. Richmond held "the fort" and he was backed up by a majority of the vestrymen. Some years ago Dr. Richmond was in the limelight in New York state, where he campaigned against "political and ecclesiastical devils" and was ousted only by the disbanding of his church.

OLD JACKSONVILLE

Col. John J. Hardin

By Ensley Moore.
Member Illinois State Historical Society.

John J. Hardin, in his short life, was one of the ablest and most distinguished citizens, not only of Jacksonville, but also of the state of Illinois. He came here in 1830. He was one of the very few men in public life in the early days of this state who was educated. He was a very popular man personally.

Colonel Hardin was the son of Martin D. Hardin, a lawyer, born on the Monongahela river, Pennsylvania, June 21, 1780, and died in Frankfort, Ky., October 8, 1825. Martin D. was taken to Kentucky by his father at the age of 6 years and educated at Transylvania academy. He practiced law in Franklin county, was several times in the legislature and secretary of state. He was a major in the war of 1812, and was elected a United States senator in 1816. He was distinguished for legal knowledge and ability and practiced his profession with marked success.

Martin D. was the son of John Hardin, born in Fauquier county, Va., October 1, 1753; died on the Ohio river in April, 1792. His father removed when John was 12 years of age to an unbroken wilderness near the Pennsylvania line, where he became so skillful a marksman that he was greatly feared by the hostile Indians. He served against the Indians as ensign in 1774 and was a Lieutenant in the Revolutionary war, refusing a major's commission because he thought he could do more good in the lieutenancy. He removed to Kentucky in 1786, where he served in the Wabash expedition as Lieutenant colonel. He was in every Kentucky expedition against the Indians, except one, until his death. He was bearing a flag of truce near where Shawneetown is, in this state, when he was treacherously shot by the Indians.

Colonel Hardin's body was brought home by the returning volunteers, and interred with great consideration within cannon shot of his old home. This was in a large frame house which stood for many years where Passavant Hospital now is located—on East State street, from in front of which Hardin's avenue now opens out to the southward.

John J. Hardin's paternal ancestry was not very notable, but his mother was a remarkable woman of high character and unusual beauty.

Martin D. Hardin, his father, died when John J. was only 13 years of age, and Mrs. Hardin became executrix of her husband's estate until John J. became 21 years old. The estate was so embarrassed by security debts, amounting to nearly $50,000, a great sum in those days, that Henry Clay and other family friends advised Mrs. Hardin to surrender it to the creditors and free herself from the perplexities of settlement. "Of firm and resolute purpose, and with a will to discharge any liabilities of her deceased husband and educate her children, she said, 'Gentlemen, give me time and I will pay it all.' Time was granted," and she accomplished her task.

John J. Hardin was born in Frankfort, Ky., January 6, 1810, being the eldest son of M. D. and Elizabeth Hardin. He received a liberal education, and studied law under (Kentucky state) Chief Justice Boyle. Hardin married Miss Sarah Smith, who lived near Harrodsburg Springs. They were the parents of Ellen, afterwards Mrs. Mansfield Tracy Walworth; Martin D. and Lemuel S. Hardin, all of whom survived their parents. Judge William Brown of Jacksonville studied under Justice Boyle and he and Hardin became life long friends.

As soon as he had acquired his profession Hardin sought a scene for his future life, and coming to Illinois, chose Jacksonville as the place; settling here in 1830. Hardin was appointed state's attorney here in 1832 and held the office for several years. The first improvements on the west side of our square was a row of small buildings, in one of which Hardin had his office.

In a list of subscribers to the support of Rev. John M. Ellis, March 15, 1831, Hardin was one. He afterwards gave to the "Old School Presbyterian" church the lot on which its first building was erected. It was on West State street, just about opposite where the Journal office is now. Colonel Hardin was a member of that organization and an Elder in it.

He was a town trustee in 1835, and went to the legislature in 1836, along with Newton Cloud, S. A. Douglas, W. W. Happy, Joseph Morton and Richard S. Walker, all from Morgan county. Hardin served until 1842. In 1839 he, with Judge Thomas, was influential in securing the School for the Deaf for Jacksonville. He was also interested in getting the Hospital for the Insane located here, and was appointed on the first board of trust.

In these busy days Hardin found time to be the preceptor in law of another Kentuckian, Richard Yates. As has been said before, the triumvirate of the capital district divided the terms in congress among themselves, so Hardin went to congress for one term, in 1842, and Baker and Lincoln had their terms.

Hardin, meantime, had served in the militia up to the rank of major general, taking part in the Black Hawk and Mormon wars. Going back a little in time, Eames, in his history, says of Hardin: "He soon became a leader in politics. How successfully he maintained the strife, against large odds, is well remembered by friend and foe." Among his contemporaries were Douglass, Shields, Lincoln, Baker, McLernand and others.

Hardin was a Whig in politics, but when the Democratic war against Mexico came on he was the first to enlist from here, becoming captain at first, and then colonel of the First regiment of Illinois Volunteers. There were six regiments in the Mexican war, so, when the Civil war came on, the numbering began with the Seventh.

This brings Hardin close to the end of his splendid career.

He was in the army of General Zachary Taylor, which advanced into Mexico from Brownsville, Tex., and came to the great battle of Buena Vista, where about 6,000 Americans, under Taylor, thrashed about 22,000 Mexicans, under General Santa Anna. But many a good American gave his life for the victory.

This was February 22-23, 1847. The monument out in the East (Jacksonville) cemetery states in the inscription that Colonel Hardin "gloriously fell" at Buena Vista. Thus, in his thirty-sixth year John J. Hardin gave his life for his country. And was it not a wonderful course that he had run in those few, short years?

Governor William H. Bissell, a fellow soldier with Hardin, died in 1860, and his funeral was held in Springfield.

En route home from the funeral of Colonel Bissell, the Quincy Guards, under command of Captain James D. Morgan, stopped off the cars a few minutes to visit the grave of Colonel Hardin. The company marched thru our streets to the East cemetery, where addresses were made by Captains Morgan and Prentiss and Mr. Yates. The sash worn by Prentiss was stained by the blood of Hardin when he, with Morgan, had assisted in preparing Hardin's body for burial at Buena Vista.

Colonel Hardin's body was brought home by the returning volunteers, and interred with great consideration within cannon shot of his old home.

This was in a large frame house which stood for many years where Passavant Hospital now is located—on East State street, from in front of which Hardin's avenue now opens out to the southward.

General Taylor, in his report of the battle of Buena Vista, said "In the last conflict we had the misfortune to sustain a very heavy loss—Colonel Hardin, First Illinois; Colonel McKee and Lieutenant Colonel Clay, Second Kentucky regiments fell, while gallantly leading their commands." Taylor added: "No loss falls more heavily on the army than that of Colonel Hardin."

It may be said, referring back, that Captains Morgan and Prentiss of the Mexican war became Brevet Major-General and Major-General, respectively, in the Civil War.

McKee and Clay, of Kentucky, who were killed with Hardin, were relatives or connections of his. Clay being a son of the great Henry Clay.

When Straw's hall, now called Armory hall, was finished it had on one wall a portrait of Mr. Jacob Straw, and on the opposite wall the portrait of Colonel Hardin, in military uniform.

Judge Moses, in his History of Illinois, among other references to Colonel Hardin, says: "He was the leading Whig of his state at the time of his death, and no one had brighter prospects before him than he. He was warm hearted and public-spirited, popular in his manners, an able lawyer, a speaker of rare power, and a Christian gentleman. His remains were brought home and finally laid to rest at Jacksonville in July 1847."

Eames says, in Historic Morgan: "Thus ends the life of Colonel John J. Hardin. His career was brilliant and his star went down ere it had reached its zenith." * * * Colonel Hardin we have seen as a statesman and warrior. He was also a Christian for years, and elected, just before leaving for the Mexican war, an elder in the Presbyterian church."

And this is the story of another of the splendid men which Kentucky and the South gave to Jacksonville and Illinois and the Nation.

Hardin, Baker, Lincoln, all living in this Congressional district at one time, and all giving their lives for their country!

Mrs. Hardin, some time after the death of her husband, became the wife of the eminent jurist, Reuben H. Walworth, of Saratoga, N. Y.—last of the Chancellors of New York state. Saratoga was Mrs. Walworth's home.

Colonel Hardin's daughter, Ellen, was born here in 1832 and died about a year ago. Miss Hardin married her step-brother, Mansfield Tracy Walworth, by whom she had a son, Frank, and two daughters.

Mrs. Walworth was greatly interested and active in patriotic matters and was one of the founders of the D. A. R. She was an author and wrote some poetry. Her last visit to her birthplace was some fifteen or twenty years ago, and she communed with an acquaintance here only a short time before her death.

Both of her daughters were bright women and authors.

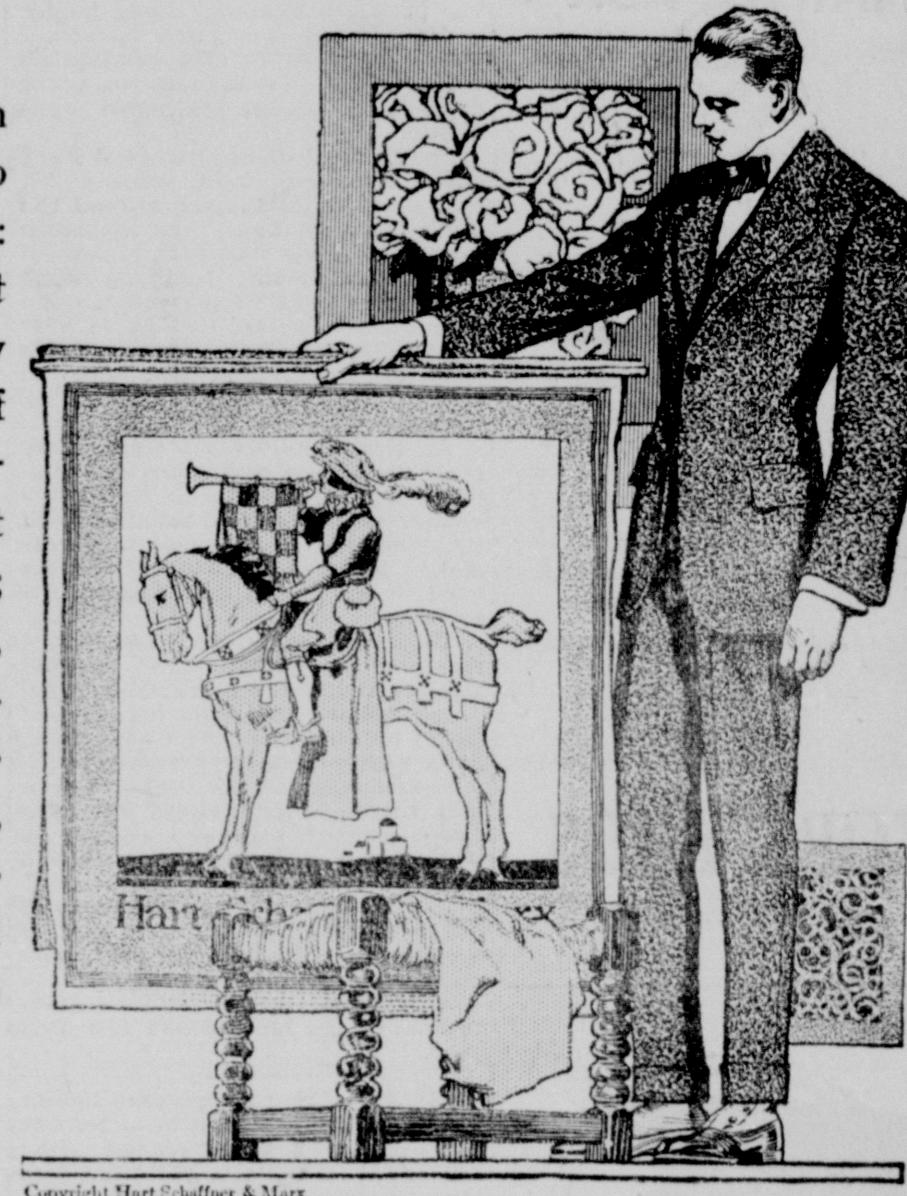

Colonel Hardin's son, Martin D., known here as "D." went to West Point military academy and was a lieutenant or captain in the regular army at the outbreak of the Civil war. He was soon made a colonel of a Pennsylvania volunteer regiment, and was connected with the Army of the Potomac. He became a brigadier general and brevet major general. In a battle, presumably Antietam, he was frightfully wounded and lost an arm. After the war he was made a major in the regular army, but soon resigned and entered the practice of law in Chicago. He now resides there, or in one of the suburbs of that city.

Colonel Hardin's son, Lemuel Smith, went South about the time of the Civil war—being at Saratoga in the summer of 1860—and entered the Confederate army. He, too, lost an arm in his service.

DEAD MEN'S SHOES

Mrs. Toplotty tells me that she will inherit a large fortune when her parents die," said Mrs. Jamesworth. "All the luck seems to go to some people."

"I have often wondered what was the matter with Mrs. Toplotty," remarked Jamesworth. "She calls her hired girl a maid, and refers to the little cubbyhole adjoining her kitchen as the butler's pantry. When a woman talks that way, she has false views of life, and the sooner she is cast into outer darkness the better."

"Her husband always has a few buttons missing from his clothes and looks as tho he never had enough to eat. This is a mystery no longer. Of course his wife refuses to do any housekeeping, if she's waiting for a bunch of money that will never come. People who sit around fanning themselves, waiting for an inheritance, nearly always fall down. Her parents probably will outlive her by twenty years. People who have money to leave behind them always do hang on until somebody has to shoot them."

"And when they do finally die, Mrs. Jamesworth, they leave their money to somebody who wasn't looking for it, or bequeath it to a jerkwater college, or the village bottling works, or a home for superannuated tomcats."

"Waiting for a legacy is more degrading than running for office. It takes all the pep and ambition out of people. Mrs. Toplotty ought to

Colonel John J. Hardin had a brother, Charles, here. He was Dr. Hardin, but, being a popular man, became circuit clerk, a position he held for several terms, dying in office about 1863. He had three sons, William, John J. and "D." John J. was in Wichita, Kan., at last accounts. There were also two pretty girls, Tinie and Lucy. The former became the wife of L. A. Greenleaf, and they were the parents of one daughter, Louise, who married Frederick Stevenson, son of the late Septimus C. Stevenson, of Orleans, this county.

The Charles Hardin family lived, at the time of his death, and for years before, in the house which stood on West State street where the west side of Grace church now is. The house was moved away to make room for the present church.

Colonel Hardin's mother took the Rev. Porter Clay—brother of "Harry of the West"—as her second husband, and they lived in what is now part of the residence of Mrs. W. D. Sanders, on West State street, west of Prospect street.

Mrs. Martinette McKee—sister of the Hardins—lived in the present residence of Miss Lucy Barr, on West State street, for a while during the Civil war.

WALTER WOODMAN GOES TO PEORIA

Waiter Woodman who is ground keeper for the Peoria Three Eye league team expect to leave Saturday day for Peoria to take up his work for the season. Mr. Woodman was formerly keeper for Jacksonville and went to Dubuque with Clarence Rowland. Rowland took him to Peoria when he assumed the management of that team. Mr. Woodman was offered a position by Rowland at the White Sox park in Chicago this year. However, the salary was not commensurate with the responsibility and Mr. Woodman decided to remain in Peoria. He has the reputation of being one of the best ground keepers in the country.

Commissioner William F. Rogge of Meredosia was in the city Wednesday and attended the sale of John Cleary west of the city. Judge Robert R. Coulas and Sheriff Grant Graff also were among those in attendance at the sale.

SCHRAMSPORTS HERE AND THERE

Des Moines, Iowa.—With the coming of spring, track athletes and baseball practice is beginning to blossom out at Des Moines Colleges. At Highland Park college, the gymnasium is filled with men who are candidates either for the college track team or for the baseball team and the coming of warm weather will find the athletes far advanced in their training for coming competitions.

Coach John Nelson of the baseball team plans to put his men thru strenuous out-door practice on the first day of warm weather. Long indoor work, already has given Nelson a pretty fair idea of each candidate's ability and his predictions regarding the coming season are highly optimistic.

Coach Krull of the Highland Park track team has been sending his men over the jumps and around the track daily for more than a month. According to his statement in several events this spring, Highland Park will be strongly represented. He intimated, however, that he is having trouble developing men of sufficient calibre to take first place in several events scheduled for spring meets.

At Drake university, about fifty track candidates have taken up training under Coach Griffith. The Drake mentor says he is well satisfied with the form shown in indoor workouts and he hopes that Drake will make a good record on the cinder paths this spring.

Much interest is being manifested this year in the inter-class baseball series scheduled to begin about April 1. A number of candidates for sectional teams of all classes are taking daily workouts in the gymnasium.

Commenting in the Drake basketball season, which closed recently, Coach Griffith expressed himself as being fairly well satisfied with the showing made by the Drake five. Smith at center and Warne at guard will be the only men lost by graduation this year, he said, and he expects three veterans and a promising bunch of freshmen stars to answer the mobilization call next year.

Omaha—The fourth annual indoor track and field meet, held under the auspices of the local Young Mens Christian association, promises this year to be one of the principal athletic events of the middle west. The meet will be held on March 31st, at the Municipal auditorium.

In the college division, entries already have been received from the University of Kansas, University of Nebraska, Ames Agricultural, Iowa State, Kansas Agricultural, Nebraska Wesleyan and Tarkio college.

Frederick Rodkey, a half miler who holds to his credit a victory over Merle, the eastern star, will be one of the cracks sent to the meet by the University of Kansas, who also have a star high jumper, with a record of 6 feet 1 inch, entered, but are holding his identity in the dark.

A number of Omaha Indians, former students at Carlisle, have also sent in their entries and will be an added feature of the meet. The Indians will be in charge of Andrew F. Solomon, of Walthill, Nebraska.

Upwards of fifty colleges, universities, high schools and athletic associations are expected to be represented at the meet, while medals and cups valued in the neighborhood of $500 will be given to the winners of various events.

Bloomington, Ind.—A large gray eagle will be Indiana university's athletic mascot and from an especially built perch on Jordan field will scream in its own language "Beat Purdue," or whatever happens to be Indiana's opponents.

The eagle was captured a few days ago on the site of Indians new athletic field, which it is expected will be ready for use at the beginning of the football season next fall. The eagle was wounded with a rifle, but it is said, it will recover and suffer no ill effects. Baseball Coach Fred Boebe assisted in the capture of the bird.

A large cage is being built on the campus, in which the eagle will be kept when its presence is not required on the athletic field.

Omaha—if he carries out his original intention, L. B. Fenner of Burwell, Neb., a golf enthusiast, will probably have the most valuable golf bag in the world. In Florida this winter he shot an alligator and brought home the skin. Recently he sent it to a local sporting goods house with the request that it be made into a golf bag. It was turned over to a tanner who created some surprise with the statement that the skin in its present state is worth from $700 to $1,000. It is that of a "pearl" alligator which lives in salt water and is rarely found. The skin is white with beautiful markings and is said, when tanned and polished, to resemble mother of pearl.

Minneapolis—Horsman of the Twin Cities are considering the advisability of holding an early season race meeting at the state fair track this year and if directors of the Twin Cities Driving Club decide to carry out the proposal, several Minnesota towns will be asked to join in organizing an early circuit. This circuit would precede the Minnesota and North Dakota circuit which opens in July.

Twin City horsemen believe that the new American Trotting association ruling that records had prior to the week of July 4 classified as breeder's records only and not a car to future races will make early summer racing possible and greatly increase the number of horses at May and June meetings.

Milwaukee, Wis.—The Central

Ann Arbor, Mich.—The 1910 University of Michigan football squad may be conditioned by Trainer Harry Tuthill for a week or more next autumn before the arrival of Head Coach Fielding H. Yost. It is understood here that Tuthill has written to Coach Yost, asking permission to take charge of the candidates at an early date so he can lay before them his training plans which proved successful in his hand.

ing of squads at West Point, for several seasons. Tuthill also expects to confer with the players before the coming summer vacation. He intends to ask them to begin conditioning themselves during the hot months.

Louisville, Ky.—Though March frequently sends wintry winds whistling over Kentucky, this state is beginning to compete with Florida and other far southern states as a site for big league baseball training camps. Dawson Springs, with its medicinal waters, has proved an attraction this year for the preliminary work of the Pittsburgh Pirates and two American Association clubs, Toledo and Columbus, will do their entire training there.

Federal Club of Baltimore Sues for $900,000 Damages Under the National Anti-Trust Laws.

Philadelphia, March 29.—Organized baseball is facing another attack against its existence in a suit for $900,000 damages filed in the United States district court here today under the national anti-trust laws by the Federal Baseball club of Baltimore. The defendants in the suit are at National and American leagues, and the sixteen clubs making up their membership, the three members of the national baseball commission; James A. Gilmore, Charles Weeghman and Harry Sinclair, formerly of the Federal League. If the Federal League of Baltimore wins its suit today and the one begun by the Federal League against organized baseball in Chicago in January, 1915, is that the present action is one for damages only, while the first one was an injunction to restrain organized baseball from continuing certain acts alleged to be in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

To win the present action the Baltimore club must show that organized baseball as at present constituted is in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law and the Clayton anti-trust act. If it proves this and recovers damages, lawyers said tonight the government may have to take cognizance of the court's decree.

The Baltimore club alleges that it was not considered in the negotiations last winter which resulted in the so-called peace agreement between organized baseball and Federal League owners and that in consequence it suffered a loss of $300,000 and asks for triple damages under the federal anti-trust laws.

Some Topics of the Farm

CLARY SALE TOTAL WELL ABOVE FIVE THOUSAND DOLLAR MARK

Implements and Livestock All Sold at High Price—Bad Road Conditions Did Not Interfere with Attendance.

The sale held by John W. Clary on the Clary farm, west of Jacksonville, Wednesday, was one of the most successful of the season. The roads were in fair condition, but the fact did not interfere with farmers who came from far and near to attend. Possibly the bad roads served rather to increase than diminish the attendance for if the ground had not been so wet many farmers would have been at work planting oats. As it was, the attendance ran to about the $600 mark, and the sale totaled between $5,000 and $5,500. As has been true of other sales this season, practically everything was paid for and only a very few notes were given.

One reason for the satisfactory prices could be found in the fact that Mr. Clary had good implements and stock, and as one bidder expressed it, people are always willing to pay better prices when they know that they are getting quality goods, this being especially true on the farm.

Jerry and Jed Cox were the auctioneers and the clerks were W. B. Groves and John W. Lazebny. Lunch was served by the ladies of Liberty church and the patronage was such that they were compelled to send to Jacksonville for more supplies before 12 o'clock. Another good point about the sale was the fact that Mr. Clary had arranged all the implements and the farm animals in such a way that they could be easily examined by all those interested. There was lots to sell, but the auctioneers pushed the work along rapidly and prices were very satisfactory. Horses sold especially well and cows and hogs also brought high figures. Mrs. Clary has a wide reputation as a poultry raiser and the pure bred chickens also sold at satisfactory prices. Some representative sales were as follows:

Red heifer and calf, $78, R. R. Pavless.

The second annual convention of the vocational educational association of the middle west will be held in Chicago for three days beginning, Thursday, March 30. The session has been arranged by the Illinois Bankers' association as a part of their agricultural development work. An entire day is to be devoted to the consideration of problems in vocational education for agriculture and C. H. Lane, chief government specialist on this subject will be present. Albert H. Leake, winner of the $1,000 prize which was given for his treatise on agricultural education, will speak on the "Economic and Political Importance of Training in Agriculture." Other prominent men will also take part. There will be a conference of those who hold different views with reference to legislation desirable in Illinois covering the general subject of agriculture. At the luncheon Friday, Prof. P. G. Holden will speak on "The Need of the Hour in Agriculture." Some of the subjects to be discussed by prominent men of various sections meeting at the convention are as follows: The relation of county agents to vocational education, university extension work in its relation to agriculture, the training of teachers for courses in agriculture.

At the general sessions the following important subjects will be considered, "The Gary School System," "Work for Women," "Schools and Employment," "Recent Experiments in Education."

TRACTOR BOOM DUE THIS YEAR

The following is from the Galena Mail:

Here is a message of cheer for the farmer. The low priced farm tractor has arrived.

The first tractor designed to pull two plows appeared two years ago and sold in large quantities. Up to the time this machine was brought out, the smallest tractors were generally about four-plow units and sold in the neighborhood of $1,500 to $2,000.

To most farmers who already had a reasonable number of horses an investment in one of the larger machines meant running considerable risk.

The small tractor, at a low price, placed power farming experience in reach of a great many people who could not otherwise have taken it up.

Since the advent of the low-priced tractor this business has increased tremendously. Almost one-half as many tractors were produced in 1914 as had been built since the start of the gas tractor industry.

During 1915 the output was almost doubled and indications are that next year the demand will greatly exceed the supply, altho there is a planned production for 1916 of nearly twice as many machines as were made last year.

Altho it is not to be expected that they will replace horses entirely, it has been proven that tractors can be used in connection with horses, to better advantage, than either the tractor alone or the horses alone.

Statistics show there are 2,500,000 farms in the United States on which tractors can be used successfully.

There are 150 tractors on the market, no two of them alike.

Farmers throughout the country are thinking about and discussing tractors and many of them are familiar with the subject. Two or three years ago the majority of them had only a very indefinite idea as to what tractors or power-farming meant.

Agricultural colleges have given valuable support by including in their courses instructions in the handling and maintenance of gas tractors. The all-around tractor for which there will be the biggest demand in the future is one which can be used efficiently at plowing, planting, harvesting, belt work, road work and road hauling.

Some Interesting Figures Regarding Cattle.

Much has been said regarding the prices of sheep and leather and the subject is one which vitally concerns not only leather and shoe dealers but all persons interested in the production of that which enters into the footwear of the nation.

From all the facts at hand it would certainly seem that the time for profitable raising of calves in Illinois was about at hand. That better times for the farmer are coming would also seem most likely. Below is appended a table showing how the population of the land is increasing and at the same time the number of cattle is decreasing due to the settling of western lands and a variety of causes.

Year Total Cattle Population
1916 61,441,000 101,000,000

1915 58,329,000 100,500,000

1914 56,592,000 99,000,000

1913 56,527,000 97,026,000

1912 57,959,000 95,418,503

1911 60,502,000 93,792,509

1910 61,803,000 92,174,515

1909 71,099,000 90,556,521

1908 71,267,000 88,938,527

1907 72,533,731 87,320,539

Pittsburgh—The Congress of Women's clubs of Western Pennsylvania which opened here today, is devoting much of its attention to the victory which the women have won in opening up the medical school of the University of Pittsburgh to women students. The women demanded that they be admitted on equal terms with men, and this was granted. Two girl students are already taking the medical course, and the congress, in celebration of their victory for women doctors, has raised a fund of $12,000 for two scholarships.

Cleveland.—The school of applied social science, which will be opened next September, will be the tenth department in Western Reserve university. The new school is decided upon, and it is the result of plans which have been developing for three years. The work of the school for the first years has been outlined under four general divisions: family welfare and social service; health administration, play and recreation; municipal administration, and public service. Dr. J. E. Cutler, head of the department of sociology in the university, has been appointed dean of the new school.

Missoula, Mont.—To avoid confusion, Dr. Edward C. Elliott, chancellor of the university of Montana, has decided to designate that part of the university which is located here as "The State University." The greater university of Montana consists of the state university at Missoula, the college of agriculture and mechanic arts at Bozeman, the state school of mines at Butte, and the state normal college at Dillon. The university was constituted under the laws of 1913.

Philadelphia.—The law school of the university of Pennsylvania hereafter will not confer a degree upon any student whose moral conduct both in and out of the school is not absolutely unimpeachable. The university is, according to Provost Smith, the first large institution of learning in the east to take such a measure in an effort to elevate the standards of the legal profession and to prevent men of immoral character from becoming members of the bar.

Newton, N. J.—In accordance with the plan of Superintendent Ralph Decker, of the Sussex County schools, hundreds of parents and relatives of the school children are visiting the schools, carrying out the idea of "Go to School Week." Nearly every town in the land has had a go to church Sunday, says Superintendent Decker. Many towns and cities have their old home week. But I have conceived the idea of having a go to school week. What our schools need is more interest in them on the part of parents and taxpayers. Very few of them ever visit the school, relying on the children for any information they care for. I am glad to say that many parents are responding to my invitation.

Seattle.—Two massive new buildings will be added to the plant of the university of Washington next fall. The new home economics building will be completed in July. In it will be housed the department of home economics, the college of education and the German department. The building for the journalism, printing, political and social science departments and the law school will be soon begun, contracts for its construction being signed this week. A part of this building will be available in September.

Boston.—Boston's experiment in trying to reduce its school expenses by a half million dollars during the coming year is being watched by educational bodies in many cities where the public debt is large. The new regime goes into effect April 1. Supt. Dyer has announced that there will be no wholesale cuts in teachers' salaries. Reductions will occur, however, among twenty selected heads of departments in high schools. It is expected that the expense per capita in the high schools will be reduced from $80 to $50, effecting a saving on 7,000 pupils of about $210,000.

A DENTISTS FORMULA

WILLIAM HALE THOMPSON

On Tuesday, December 7th, Mayor William Hale Thompson issued the following statement inviting the candidates for Republican National Committeeman from Illinois to refer the selection of a National Committeeman to the Republican voters of the State:

To the Republicans of Illinois:

On June 1, 1915, Mr. Roy O. West, of Chicago, the present member of the Republican National Committee from Illinois, in letters to Republican leaders over the state, announced that he is a candidate for re-election as National Committeeman.

On September 22nd, 1915, in a public address at Springfield, Illinois, I announced that I would be a candidate for member of the Republican National Committee from Illinois, and gave my reasons for becoming a candidate for that high honor. Since then a number of Republican county organizations throughout the State have endorsed my candidacy.

No other Republican has as yet announced his intention to become a candidate.

The direct primary law of Illinois was enacted in order that the rank and file of the party should have opportunity to express a personal choice for officials who should represent them. The law does not provide for a direct vote on candidates for National Committeeman, that office having been apparently overlooked when the present law was framed. It certainly is as important to elect a national committeeman by direct vote as a member of a county committee.

Under the circumstances, and in order that the people shall rule, the interests of party harmony and popular government would both be served by a direct primary law of Illinois.

1. That party strife may not endanger the likelihood of a solid delegation from Illinois in the National Convention for Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman for the Republican nomination for President of the United States.

2. That the Republican voters of this State may have an opportunity to record a direct vote upon the position of Republican National Committeeman from Illinois.

3. That after the entire Republican ticket shall have been nominated, complete harmony shall prevail in the Republican Party in this State.

Believing that the Republicans of Illinois would welcome an opportunity to cast a direct vote for the office of Republican National Committeeman, and thereby assist in promoting party harmony in this State, I therefore take this position, in order that the following purposes may thereby be accomplished:

1. That party strife may not endanger the likelihood of a solid delegation from Illinois in the National Convention for Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman for the Republican nomination for President of the United States.

2. That the Republican voters of this State may have an opportunity to record a direct vote upon the position of Republican National Committeeman from Illinois.

3. That after the entire Republican ticket shall have been nominated, complete harmony shall prevail in the Republican Party in this State.

If you believe that every Republican should be given a voice in the selection of the Illinois member of the National Committee, do not fail, when you go to the polls April 11th, to place a cross in the square opposite the name of William Hale Thompson.

Mayor Thompson Outlines Plan of Campaign-- Senator Sherman's Approval Thereof

Lawrence Y. Sherman,
Illinois.

United States Senate,

Washington, D. C.

December 9, 1915.

Hon. Wm. Hale Thompson,
Mayor of Chicago,
Chicago, Illinois.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Senator Ettleson and I have had a visit this afternoon. I have learned for the first time the proposition to leave the selection of National Committeemen for Illinois to a vote of the people. This is a fair proposal. It cannot well be refused by anyone who believes in settling matters of party choice at a primary. I approve of the offer you have made to those who oppose you. It at the same time is eminently fair from any viewpoint. It certainly is designed to strengthen the Republican Party and relieve many districts from a local contest.

Very truly yours,

Lawrence Y. Sherman

The foregoing proposal, which has the hearty endorsement of U. S. Senator Lawrence Y. Sherman, was submitted to Hon. Roy O. West, by Mayor William Hale Thompson, more than three months ago. Not one word, however, has Mayor Thompson heard from Mr. West in reply to it. Since then Mr. West and Mayor Thompson have both filed their petitions as candidates for Delegates at Large and no other person has announced as a candidate for National Committeeman. The contest for the office is, therefore, between Mr. West and Mayor Thompson. Mr. West's refusal to accept Mayor Thompson's challenge shows conclusively that he is opposed to allowing the Republicans of Illinois to say which one of them shall serve the Party in this position. When Mayor Thompson submitted his proposal to Mr. West, he had every reason to believe that the latter would gladly and promptly accept it. During the eight years that Hon. Charles S. Deneen was Governor, Mr. West was his chief political advisor. In this capacity he aided Governor Deneen in placing on the state books of the state an expensive and complex Primary Law which compels us to elect a County Central Committeeman, a Senatorial Committeeman, and a State Central Committeeman by a direct vote. As everyone knows, that the office of National Committeeman is of much greater importance than any of the others, Mr. West's opposition to a popular vote on it, when he knows the vote can be taken without a single cent of cost to the taxpayers, strikingly illustrates the insincerity of his advocacy of the doctrine that the people shall rule.

SPECIAL STOCKS ARE PUSHED BACK AND FORTH MOST OF DAY

Railway Shares Are Under Obvious Restraint, Especially in the Latter Part of the Day.

New York, March 29.—Special stocks were pushed back and forth during most of today's professional market, while Wall street engaged in further aimless discussion regarding European and Mexican affairs. Superficially, at least, there were no new developments in these quarters, but the lack of definite advices and the studious abstention of public interests were in themselves deterrent factors. Railway shares were under obvious restraint, especially in the latter part of the day, when Reading, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and New York Central recorded declines of 1 to almost 2 points.

Almost one-third of the day's turnover was contributed by such speculative issues as Crucible Steel, Merchant Marine, Mexican Petroleum and Anaconda Copper. Of this mixed assortment some were higher, but most were inclined to shade.

United States Steel was again shunted to subordinate position in the list of prominent stocks and publicly trade reviews referred to signs that the crest of the wave of price advances has been reached or near at hand.

Total sales amounted to 485,000 shares.

Canadian Pacific reported a net gain of $315,000 for February with an increase of $420,000 for Illinois Central.

The bond market was steady on contracted dealings.

HAVE COLOR IN YOUR CHEEKS

Be Better Looking—Take
Olive Tablets

If your skin is yellow—complexion
pallid—lips coated—appetite poor—
you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 17 years of study with his patients.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color.

If you want a clear, pink skin, bright
eyes no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy
like childhood days, you must get at the cause.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets act on the liver and bowels—calomel—yet have no
dangerous after effects.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. That's why millions of boxes are sold annually at 10c and 25c per box.

All druggists.

Take one or two nightly and note the pleasing results.

TEROLE once you experience the glad

ment made with the oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister. Brings ease and comfort while it is being rubbed on!

MUSTEROLE is recommended by doctors and nurses. Millions of jars are used annually for Bronchitis, Croup, Stiff Neck, Asthma, Neuralgia, Congestion, Pleurisy, Rheumatism, Lumbo-
Pains and Aches of the Back or Joints,
Sprains, Sore Muscles, Bruises, Chil-
blains, Frosted Feet, Colds of the Chest
(it often prevents Pneumonia).

At your druggist's, in 25c and 50c jars,
and a special large hospital size for $2.50.

Be sure you get the genuine MUS-TEROLE. Refuse imitations—get what you ask for. The Musterole Company,

He Could Hardly
Wear His Clothes

Alvis Sowers, Ade, Ind., endured terrible pains in his back before he had Musterole. He says: "I would lie up at times so that I could hardly wear my clothes.
Secretions were scant and very red.
Foley Kidney Pills were recommended
to me, and the first box removed the
pain and after taking only three
boxes the bleeding was all gone and
has never been noticed since.
I am about everybody who has used Foley Kidney Pills is anxious to recommend them. From every state
in the Union come letters praising
Foley Kidney Pills, because they so
toned up and strengthened the body
and to their own health action
all the ill results of sore, weak, aching kidneys and irritable bladder action
are lost in a return of health and vigor. Joints aching, joints and rheumatic pains quickly yield to their
healing, curative qualities.

Heals Skin Diseases

It is unnecessary for you to suffer
with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar skin troubles. A little Zemo, gotten at any drug store for 25c, or $1.00 for
extra large bottle, and promptly applied
will usually give instant relief from irritating texture. It eases and soothes the skin and heals quickly and effectively
most skin diseases.

Zemo is a wonderful disappearing liquid
and does not smart the most delicate skin.
It is not greasy, is easily applied and costs little. Get it today and save all further distress.

PROVES THE WOMAN
CAN COME BACK

Pioneer Moral Reform Society Celebrates 80th Anniversary.

Boston, March 29.—The New Eng-
land Moral Reform society today
celebrated its eightieth anniversary.
Quietly but persistently during four
score years, this pioneer organization
has been doing its work. It was founded on the great principle
of human uplift. It endured, spread its ideas far and wide by publication and public speech, and formed the pattern upon which some of the varied reform societies of today are based.

Little encouragement faced the
handful of women who met in 1836
and founded this society. The problem of moral reform for women had never been studied. It presented a complex tangle of vice, ignorance
and superstition. But the stream of country girls and immigrant girls
then flowing into the city was bringing
with it tragedies of broken hopes
and broken lives. There was work
to be done. Under the leadership of the Misses Rebecca and Elizabeth
Eaton, who were the pioneers in this
rescue work in Boston, the volunteers
opened headquarters and began
their task of advising and aiding
young women.

Conditions Different Now.

Encouragement flows today to the successors of these women. In a
home and hospital in Jamaica Plain,
a suburb of the city, they are carrying
on the work of transforming the
ideas of downcast or indifferent
girls into an image of chaste and
dignified motherhood, giving her
hope and confidence, and a new start
in life.

The greatest of the society's accomplishments in its 80 years of service is the proof that it has given
the world that the woman can "come back." The cruel superstition of ages that the woman who has once "gone wrong" cannot live down
a stained life is being uprooted by results such as this society has
achieved.

Replacing the cold stare of her
critics, who thru the ages meted out
stern judgment to the woman who placed her trust and love in unworthy hands, society is providing
today the warm and friendly comprehension and the chance to "come back." The teaching that one blunder
forever shuts her off from everything that makes life worth living—
honor, home, husband, children and
a decent position in society—no longer
drives the weak woman to despair and utter ruin.

Up to the time that the New Eng-
land Moral society took up her case,
there had been no provision for the
girl who was about to become a mother. Nothing was offered her
but the tolerance that goes to criminals
behind iron bars. She was refused the companionship of right-
minded women, even tho she struggled in repentance and tears to retire the false step. She was an outcast.

Today she is recognized as a
person who needs but tender care
and the proper moral training for
her regeneration. She is today
caught that she can rise above her
experience and weakness and even
make it a means of growth and power.
And this message, first given
to despairing girls in this city many
years ago, has spread thru the land,
wherever women study the problems of their own sex.

Pioneer Work.

The early work of the pioneer society included all phases of moral
uplift for women. Its influence extended to the most degraded and
criminal. Later the necessity of concentrating on one phase of the girl problem was apparent. The
workers drew their studies and interests more closely around the girls who had made their first slip. And
then, as experience guided them,
they concentrated on the girls about
to become mothers. Here indeed
was the problem of problems.

Dr. Caroline E. Hastings, a prominent Boston physician, has for 25
years been president of the society.
She first became interested when she brought a patient to the home. For many years she was attending physician. She was succeeded as active head of the work by Dr. Julia Morton Plummer, who is now head of the home and hospital maintained
by the society.

Dr. Plummer saw the greater possibilities in surroundings apart
from the city's busy streets, where headquarters had been maintained.
After years of patient effort, which she advocated became a reality. The Talitha Cumi Maternity Home in Forest Hills street, Jamaica Plain,
is the result. It is commodious,
sunny, and home-like, and it is devoted to the sheltering and instruction of the young girls. Here they are given a new view of life thru
association with cheerful, earnest women. The seed is sown for their future usefulness before they walk
thru the corridor to the hospital.
There they remain four weeks, until
mother and baby have a good start
along the new pathway.

These four weeks of deep experience mark the second step toward
independent, purposeful womanhood.
But a third is needed, and this was part of the original new plan for
the country home. It is an industrial home building for the further
training of those unfit, from an
economic viewpoint, to stand alone
when they leave the shelter of the hospital. The basement of this building is already constructed, and
with the enlisted interest of many
whole-hearted New England people,
the third great department will be
housed in its own quarters in the near future.

A study of the cases which the
society has handled reveals the
causes of the young girl's downfall.
The final report of Miss Fannie
Devore, as administratrix of the estate of Miss Emma Devore was approved and the estate declared
closed.

chance—the chance that society
owes them if society is to judge them. The cases are grouped by the society as follows:

1. Girls without mothers, left unguided and unwarmed.

2. Girls who left the family nest
too young, to make their way.

3. Girls ruined while under the influence of liquor or drugs.

4. Girls wronged by their own relatives.

5. Girls who were helpless under actual attack.

6. Girls who really fell in love,
and after casting their fortunes on love, were deserted in their hour of need.

7. Girls who failed to heed the mother's warning, thru false views
of individual rights.

Over hundred cases are handled
annually by the society. The fundamental principle on which the workers
secure their success is the mother-love fostered in the home. Imbued with this great natural love,
which replaces selfish desire and sadness and fear the girls go forth res-
olutely to more useful lives.

The Talitha Cumi Maternity home in Boston is carrying a great burden. It is backed earnestly by some of the city's best women. It is the embodiment of the principle laid
down ages ago in Mark V, 41—

"And he took her by the hand and
said unto her, Talitha Cumi; which is, being interpreted, Damsel, I say thee, arise."

ROADS BAD AGAIN.

Last week the roads were in pass-
able condition and where they had
been dragged were really excellent.
The rain Sunday and the snow Monday, however, seem to have provided sufficient moisture to make the
highways almost impassable again.
This can be accounted for only by
the theory that the roads were not
thoroughly dry and were spongey down
below the surface. One or two automobile drivers attempted to get to
the Clary farm yesterday but after driving a few hundred yards
they gave up the practically impossible task. It will need considerable sunshine and warm winds to
put the roads in any sort of condition again.

J. T. OSBORNE IN DRY GOODS
BUSINESS FOR FIFTY YEARS

Unusual Record Is That of Well Known Jacksonville Man—Is Widely Known and Justly Popular

A true knight and veteran of the yardstick is J. T. Osborne, familiarly known far and wide as "Jack" and no one is more generally popular. Saturday, April 1st, will round out for him a half century of mercantile life in this city. He has spent practically all his life in Jacksonville, he is well honored and has a host of friends.

Mr. Osborne was born in a log cabin on the farm now owned by Mrs. Andrew Harris some ten or twelve miles east of Jacksonville, Nov. 21, 1846. He was the son of Godly parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Osborne, long since gone to their eternal rest, but leaving a worthy record and sons to do them honor. He had the usual advantages of the country lad gaining health and strength by plenty of fresh air and exercise with good food and good raising. Early he was taught the truths of the holy Bible and it has been the guide to his faith and practice.

SAW SERVICE IN WAR.

He enlisted in Co. C, 145 Ill. Vol. Infantry of which M. V. B. Parker was a commissioned officer and at the end of his service returned home. His parents had moved to the city and April 1, 1866, he began his business career.

Mr. Osborne's first employer was a man not much versed in the dry goods trade and who didn't stay in it very long. He was D. R. Fitch, familiarly known as "Doc," and he knew rather more about cattle than calico. "Jack's" fellow clerks were integrity. He has a pleasant word for every one and the left handed he can cut off a yard of goods in four different languages and not make a mistake. He is popular with his employer, his fellow clerks and the public. He is a faithful member of the Christian church and for forty-one years and four months has been a member of Urania lodge, I. O. O. F., and for twenty-nine years a member of Ridgley encampment, No. 9.

Early in his mature life he was married to Miss Mary A. Hicks and together they have happily traveled life's journey. They have lived in every ward in the city, their present home which they have occupied 24 years being 845 North Church street. They are the parents of two sons who have done them honor. Ernest lives in Los Angeles, Calif., and Percy in Chicago and both have good positions and are much esteemed. He has two brothers, D. W. and C. A. Osborne, good men. The almost three score and ten Mr. Osborne is yet hale and hearty and bids fair to be with his friends for years to come.

COLORED REPUBLICAN CLUB HELD MEETING WEDNESDAY.

Various Speakers Made Brief Remarks in Favor of Mr. Russell's Candidacy—Mass Meeting is Planned.

The members of the Young Men's Colored Republican club held an enthusiastic meeting in Odd Fellows hall on the north side of the square Wednesday evening. There was a large attendance and each speaker was greeted with applause. The meeting was primarily in the interest of Andrew Russell's candidacy for delegate to the National Republican Convention. During the evening music was furnished by a trio consisting of violin, guitar and drums. John R. Dunn, president of the club presided. The first speaker was Herbert Hyatt who is a member of the club. He was followed by the Rev. J. W. Muse, Rev. E. M. Harless, Edward Mallory, Rev. H. H. DeWitt, A. J. Jones and Andrew Russel. Mr. Russel gave his hearers a good straight republican talk and there was little doubt that the members present were heartily in accord with what he said. The meeting last night was a preliminary to a big mass meeting which will be held next week, the time and place of which will be announced later.

MUSTEROLE
WHEN NOT

He Could Hardly
Wear His Clothes

Alvis Sowers, Ade, Ind., endured terrible pains in his back and through his kidneys for eight years before he finally used Foley Kidney Pills. He says: "I would hardly wear my clothes
then. I could hardly wear my clothes.
Prescriptions were sent and very red.
Foley Kidney Pills were recommended
to me, and the first box removed the
pain and after taking only three
boxes the bleeding was all gone and
I have never bothered me since."

Just about everybody who has used
Foley Kidney Pills is anxious to
recommend them. From every state
in the Union come letters praising
Foley Kidney Pills, because they so
tore up and strengthened the kidneys
that by their vigorous health action
all the other diseases, a general ailment are lost in a return of health and vigor. Swollen, aching joints and rheumatic pains quickly yield to their
healing, curative qualities.

ing torture. It cleanses and soothes the
skin and heals quickly and effectively
most skin diseases.

and does not smartr the most delicate skin.
It is not greasy, is easily applied and

CAN COME BACK

Pioneer Moral Reform Society Celebrates 80th Anniversary.

Boston, March 29.—The New Eng-
land Moral Reform society today
celebrated its eightieth anniversary.
Quietly but persistently during four
score years, this pioneer organization
has been doing its work. It was founded on the great principle of human uplift. It endured, spread its ideas far and wide by publication and public speech, and formed the pattern
upon which some of the varied reform
societies of today are based.

Little encouragement faced the
handful of women who met in 1836
and founded this society. The problem of moral reform for women had
never been studied. It presented a
complex tangle of vice, ignorance
and superstition. But the stream of country girls and immigrant girls
then flowing into the city was bringing
with it tragedies of broken hopes
and broken lives. There was work
to be done. Under the leadership of
the Misses Rebecca and Elizabeth
Eaton, who were the pioneers in this
rescue work in Boston, the volunteers
opened headquarters and began
their task of advising and aiding
young women.

Conditions Different Now.

Encouragement flows today to the
successors of these women. In a
home and hospital in Jamaica Plain,
a suburb of the city, they are carrying
on the work of transforming the
ideas of downcast or indifferent
girls into an image of chaste and
dignified motherhood, giving her
hope and confidence, and a new start
in life.

The greatest of the society's accomplishments in its 80 years of
service is the proof that it has given
the world that the woman can "come
back." The cruel superstition of ages that the woman who has once
"gone wrong" cannot live down a stained life is being uprooted by results such as this society has
achieved.

Replacing the cold stare of her
critics, who thru the ages meted out
severe judgment to the woman who sternly met her trust and love in unworthy hands, society is providing
today the warm and friendly com-
prehension and the chance to "come
back." The teaching that one blunder
forever shuts her off from every-
thing that makes life worth living—
honor, home, husband, children and
a decent position in society—no longer
drives the weak woman to despair
and utter ruin.

Up to the time that the New Eng-
land Moral society took up her case,
there had been no provision for the
girl who was about to become a
mother. Nothing was offered her
but the tolerance that goes to criminals
behind iron bars. She was refused the companionship of right-
minded women, even the she struggled in repentance and tears to regret the false step. She was an outcast.

Today she is recognized as a
person who needs but tender care
and the proper moral training for
her regeneration. She is today
caught that she can rise above her
experience and weakness and even
make it a means of growth and power.

And this message, first given
to despairing girls in this city many
years ago, has spread thru the land,
wherever women study the problems of their own sex.

Pioneer Work.

The early work of the pioneer society included all phases of moral
uplift for women. Its influence extended to the most degraded and
criminal. Later the necessity of concentrating on one phase of the
girl problem was apparent. The
workers drew their studies and interest more closely around the girls
who had made their first slip. And
then, as experience guided them,
they concentrated on the girls about
to become mothers. Here indeed
was the problem of problems.

Dr. Caroline E. Hastings, a prominent Boston physician, has for 25
years been president of the society.
She first became interested when she
brought a patient to the home. For many years she was attending physician. She was succeeded as active head of the work by Dr. Julia Morton Plummer, who is now head of the home and hospital maintained
by the society.

Over hundred cases are handled
annually by the society. The fundamental principle on which the workers secure their success is the mother-love fostered in the home. In-
bued with this great natural love,
which replaces selfish desire and sad-
ness and fear the girls go forth res-
olutely to more useful lives.

The Talitha Cumi Maternity home
in Boston is carrying a great burden. It is backed earnestly by some of the city's best women. It is the embodiment of the principle laid
down ages ago in Mark V, 41—

"And he took her by the hand and
said unto her, Talitha Cumi; which is, being interpreted, Damsel, I say thee, arise."

ROADS BAD AGAIN.

Last week the roads were in pass-
able condition and where they had
been dragged were really excellent.
The rain Sunday and the snow Monday, however, seem to have provided sufficient moisture to make the
highways almost impassable again.

This can be accounted for only by
the theory that the roads were not
thoroughly dry and were spongy down
below the surface. One or two automobile drivers attempted to get to
the Clary farm yesterday but after driving a few hundred yards
they gave up the practically impossible task. It will need consider-
able sunshine and warm winds to
put the roads in any sort of condition again.

These four weeks of deep experience mark the second step toward
independent, purposeful womanhood.
But third is needed, and this was
part of the original new plan for
the country home. It is an industrial home building for the further
training of those unfit, from an
economic viewpoint, to stand alone
when they leave the shelter of the
hospital. The basement of this
building is already constructed, and
with the enlisted interest of many
whole-hearted New England people,
the third great department will be
housed in its own quarters in the
near future.

A study of the cases which the
society has handled reveals the
causes of the young girl's downfall.
Many of the girls never had a probate court.

In the estate of Damon D. Robinson, the final report filed by E. A.
Wabbaum as administrator was approved.

In the estate of Edward Tobin,
deceased the sale bill was approved.

The final report of Miss Fannie
Devore, as administratrix of the estate of Miss Emma Devore was approved and the estate declared

closed.

Miss Ella Walker has returned from a visit in White Hall and Greenfield.

It is unnecessary for you to suffer
with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar skin troubles. A little zemo, gotten
at any drug store for 25c, or $1.00 for
extra large bottle, and promptly applied
will usually give instant relief from itchy-
ing torture. It cleanses and soothes the
skin and heals quickly and effectively
most skin diseases.

J. T. OSBORNE IN DRY GOODS
BUSINESS FOR FIFTY YEARS

Unusual Record Is That of Well Known Jacksonville Man—Is Widely Known and Justly Popular

A true knight and veteran of the yardstick is J. T. Osborne, familiarly known far and wide as "Jack" and no one is more generally popular. Saturday, April 1st, will round out for him a half century of mercantile life in this city. He has spent practically all his life in Jacksonville, he is well honored and has host of friends.

Mr. Osborne was born in a log cabin on the farm now owned by Mrs. Andrew Harris some ten or twelve miles east of Jacksonville, Nov. 21, 1846. He was the son of Godly parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Osborne, long since gone to their eternal rest, but leaving a worthy record and sons to do them honor. He had the usual advantages of the country lad gaining health and strength by plenty of fresh air and exercise with good food and good raising. Early he was taught the truths of the holy Bible and it has ever been the guide to his faith and practice.

Saw Service in War.

He enlisted in Co. C, 145 Ill. Vol. Infantry of which M. V. B. Parker was a commissioned officer and at the end of his service returned home. His parents had moved to the city and April 1, 1866, he began his business career.

Mr. Osborne's first employer was a man not much versed in the dry goods trade and who didn't stay in it very long. He was D. R. Fitch, familiarly known as "Doc," and he knew rather more about cattle than calico. "Jack's" fellow clerks were integrity. He has a pleasant word for every one and tho left handed he can cut off a yard of goods in four different languages and not make a mistake. He is popular with his employer, his fellow clerks and the public. He is a faithful member of the Christian church and for forty-one years and four months has been a member of Urania Lodge, I. O. O. F., and for twenty-nine years a member of Ridgley encampment, No. 9.

Early in his mature life he was married to Miss Mary A. Hicks and together they have happily traveled life's journey. They have lived in every ward in the city, their present home which they have occupied 24 years being 845 North Church street. They are the parents of two sons who have done them honor. Ernest lives in Los Angeles, Calif. and Percy in Chicago and both have good positions and are much esteemed. He has two brothers, D. W. and C. A. Osborne, good men. The almost three score and ten Mr. Osborne is yet hale and hearty and bids fair to be with his friends for years to come.

HELD MEETING WEDNESDAY.

Various Speakers Made Brief Remarks in Favor of Mr. Russell's Candidacy—Mass Meeting Is Planned.

The members of the Young Men's Colored Republican club held an enthusiastic meeting in Odd Fellows hall on the north side of the square Wednesday evening. There was a large attendance and each speaker was greeted with applause. The meeting was primarily in the interest of Andrew Russell's candidacy for delegate to the National Republican Convention. During the evening music was furnished by a trio consisting of violin, guitar and drums. John R. Dunn, president of the club presided. The first speaker was Herbert Hyatt who is a member of the club. He was followed by the Rev. J. W. Muse, Rev. E. M. Harliss, Edward Mallory, Rev. H. H. DeWitt, A. J. Jones and Andrew Rusel. Mr. Rusel gave his hearers a good straight republican talk and there was little doubt that the members present were heartily in accord with what he said. The meeting last night was a preliminary to a big mass meeting which will be held next week, the time and place of which will be announced later.

Deceased Had Been Only a Few Days With Pneumonia—A West State Street Resident For Nearly Fifty Years—Funeral Arrangements Not Complete.

Mrs. Cornelie Epler widow of the late Judge Cyrus Epler died at the family home 1106 West State street Wednesday night at 10:45 o'clock. Mrs. Epler had been ill only a few days of pneumonia and the end came somewhat unexpectedly. Her daughter Miss Effie Epler, who has been her constant companion, and son, Judge Earl Epler of Quincy were with her when death came.

Mrs. Epler before her marriage was Miss Cornelia Nettleton and for many years was a resident of this city. She was graduated from Jacksonville Female Academy in the class of 1849. There were seven members in this class and but two are still living.

She was united in marriage August 3, 1852 to Judge Cyrus Epler, long a prominent figure in the life of the city and state who died in 1909. Judge Epler was one of the original 49 pioneers to California, served in the Illinois legislature and for twenty-four years was on the circuit bench. After their marriage Judge and Mrs. Epler resided for a few years in a house that stood on the site now occupied by the Elizur Wolcott residence at the corner of West College avenue and South Prairie street. They moved to the present residence in West State street about 1867.

Seven children were born all of whom survive. They are Miss Effie Epler of this city, Judge Carl Epler of Quincy, Dr. Blanch Epler of Kalamazoo, Mich., Miss Nellie Epler of Rockford, Rev. Percy Epler of Worcester, Mass., Dr. Ernest Epler of Ft. Smith, Ark., and Mrs. Maud Cameron of San Francisco, Calif.

Mrs. Epler was a woman of fine character. She was essentially a home woman and her whole life was one devoted to service in the home and the upbuilding of the community. She had remarkable vigor of both mind and body and up until her recent illness engaged in activities taxing to many women far younger. The deceased was a member of Trinity Episcopal church and was devoted to her church and its work.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

CENTENARY PASTOR SPEAKS ON GOOD AND EVIL ACTIONS

Rev. G. W. Flagge Draws Strong Lesson From Passage in Proverbs—Announcements for the Week—Increased Attendance Wednesday.

While the weather has not been altogether favorable the attendance at the service last night at the Centenary revival showed an increase over that of Tuesday evening. This is partly due to the loyalty of the members of the chorus to Mr. Moon. Those in the chorus have been very faithful in attendance and have entered into all the services with a hearty good will. This accounts for the high class work of the chorus. No better has ever been heard at this church.

Among the new songs sung last night were "Sail On" and "My Savior's Love." The opening prayer was given by the Rev. F. A. McCarty. By special request the chorus sang "The House That Stood the Storm" and Mr. Moon gave as a solo "I've Known the Way."

Revival Announcements.
Evangelistic services every evening this week, except Saturday, beginning with an inspiring song service at 7:30.

Prayer meeting with young women in the Sunday school room before the service at 7:10 led by Mrs. Moon.

Prayer meeting with young men in the young men's class room before the service at 7:10 led by Mr. Moon.

Good and Evil Actions.
There is a way which seemeth right unto a man. But the end thereof are the ways of death." Proverbs 16:25, was taken by Rev. Mr. Flagge as the Wednesday evening text.

"Actions bear a different aspect after their performance to that they wore when contemplated. Right actions increase in importance as time goes by, and in the satisfaction they give the doer. What evil actions do is well indicated by the text, which was for centuries a Jewish saying before it became a part of the sacred writings.

"A good illustration from actual life of the way an evil action looks after its performance is given us in the way Ahab secured the vineyard of Naboth and the punishment that befell him and his whole family for it. It looked right to Ahab to have Naboth killed, but he was unconsciously entering the ways of death when he did it, and he and his whole family reaped violent deaths as a result.

"But if the wrong course of life looks right to a man, why blame him if he takes it, or how know when his view is mistaken. That is just why we need divine help; just why we need to give our lives to Christ's service, that the responsibility may rest on one wiser than ourselves who, in our hours of uncertainty, may by His providence direct us into the way of life instead of the way of death we might otherwise take. No man is safe who is not a follower of Christ."

A PLEASANT MEETING.
Prof. and Mrs. J. H. Rayhill have been enjoying a visit from Capt. A. W. White whom the professor had not seen for 39 years. The gentleman lives in Bostwick, Neb., and his wife and Mrs. Rayhill are sisters. During the war Ohio was complimented by being permitted to send to Washington as a bodyguard for President Lincoln a man and a black horse from each county. When they arrived the plain, old fashioned president refused to have them trailing around after him and they did go with him on one occasion. Capt. White was first lieutenant of the company and afterward he saw service in the field, in the battle of Antietam, South Mountain and elsewhere. Yesterday morning he addressed Prof. W. P. Huber's class in the high school on the battle of Antietam and was heard with great interest.

MR. HADDEN IS

CONGRATULATED

James Hadden, who has been reinstated in the position at the School for the Deaf, was receiving many congratulations from his friends yesterday. It seems that a well known Jacksonville man who is quite familiar with state governmental affairs and who is in Springfield almost every day, appeared before the state board of administration in Mr. Hadden's behalf. This man explained to the board how long and how faithfully Mr. Hadden had been in the state service and also made the request that Mr. Hadden be retained as a personal matter and he was naturally very much gratified at the action of the board in rescinding their former order.
